

Your child's school is participating in a research study designed to help students with autism succeed in school.

Your child was nominated by teachers to participate.

What does the research involve?

- A coach will meet with a team made up of you and your child's teachers
- We will help teachers identify goals for your child
- We will help teachers develop a plan to meet those goals
- We will help teachers learn interventions for your child
- We will provide on-going coaching for teachers to support their implementation
- We will ask your child's teacher questions about your child and their experience with the training

If you are interested in participating either contact us or complete this flyer and return it to school within 7 days.
